Compatibility between the partners

“Marriages are made in heaven” is a common saying. Does that mean an individual does not have any say and comes into the contact of the person automatically and has to spend rest of his / her life with the person. If marriages are really made in heaven, then why do we have so many break ups or divorces?? Something is missingWhat is it?? Compatibility between the partners, isn't it? Before deciding about the partners, to find out the compatibility we generally try to match the horoscopes and if it matches, we agree to the proposal. But gradually things start changing and the partners complain “We are not compatible with each other.” Horoscopes did match, then how do you say ‘you are not compatible....’So it is not the horoscope it is your personal behaviour, your communication skills which help you to be compatible with each other. To know more about your compatibility quotient with your partner attend the interactive session for the married couples on the topic ‘Compatibility quotient between the soul mates’ to be conducted by Arti Bhatia (Counsellor and Language trainer-ZENITH Counselling and conversational English training centre) on 30th of September, from 11 a.m. to 1.00 p.m. Feel free to call and register for the free workshop -9892131357
